DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The amendment filed 7/18/2005 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: Each occurrence of the terms "authorization", "authorized", and "permitted" (relating to the summation of sales amounts) is new material not supported by the original specification.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In each claim, the term "allowed" (in reference to the sum-up of transaction amounts) is not fully supported by the original specification.

Claims 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In the first full paragraph of each claim, "the transaction amount" lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamada et al. in view of Zaiken et al. and further in view of Official Notice.

Yamada et al. disclose a transaction processing system including a cash register machine an outstanding balance settling machine (See for example, Col. 1, lines 50-68).

The Examiner takes Official Notice that it was well known in the art at the time of the invention to define a plurality of unsettled transaction types.

For example: Sears stores have been selling appliances on a prepayment, post-delivery basis for years and it further has delivered goods to preferred customers prior to receiving payment. The exact sequence of the steps are a matter of design choice that would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to achieve a desired result.

(See previous Office action, page 7, mailed 3/16/2005 for an example of a Sears transaction)

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 7/18/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant states that the prior art and Official Notice does not teach or suggest a single device that defines a plurality of unsettled transaction types. However, this is not convincing because a single computer can define and execute each one of these transaction types. So, in the case of a Sears computer or POS system, it is a single computer that performs all of the functions.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
